2. [Redacted] is inclined to feel that the "Collection" part of this looks OK, and parallels [Redacted]. He is much more concerned about the "Storage of Information", particularly paragraph 12 on page 7. Please provide your hasty written comments by 5:00 p.m. today.

Re para 12, pg 7: I feel strongly that the Office of Security should have a record on an individual that has been security disapproved. Such an individual can apply in a year, or be put in at a later date for a clearance by a contractor and apparently would have to go through the whole investigative and appraisal process again. At a minimum, we should at least be able to keep a card with the name, identifying data, and reason for the disapproval. In addition, cases that have been favorably adjudicated, but the individual not utilized for some reason or other, should also be noted on a card index of some kind.
